Spreading your wings When you _combine_ multiple layers (as discussed in the next section), you can treat your layers as separate entities, or you can use them as one. When you _collapse_ multiple layers (more on that later), you can treat them as a single object or layer. In either case, you can manipulate each individual layer as a single entity, or you can group them all together and adjust the group as a whole. Figure 1-2 shows a file that I created using the example image earlier in the chapter. As you can see, I've created two layers, or canvases, named 'Layer 1' and 'Layer 2'. Layer 1 contains the image that will be used

, hypnosis, etc. Yuna, if you're struggling I would suggest looking at the internet. There are many sites that will help you with the visualization techniques and there are many written books on such things. The internet also has many references. I'm just trying to help... I think a lot of women have issues with sex. It's normal to struggle with these things. The good news is you can free yourself from them, and many times I think these things are not 'mental' as such, but rather emotional, you may be afraid of the prospect of loss, and of love. It is possible that you are feeling emotional about sex, but it is also possible that you don't even realize that you are feeling like that. Is the sensation of arousal, stimulated by the visual of the sex you wish to have, or have already had, is enough for you to be aroused? Is your sexual desire really about the having of that, or simply about being desired by others? If you desire to be desired, then you need to realize that there are many women out there, and you can also feel attracted to men. Yuna, if you're struggling I would suggest looking at the internet. Q: Get specific value from JSON object Hi how can I make a string get all the value from the db but do not get the id. I have now is when I see in my browser console, the object I need but the only thing that I have in the console is the id. For example, I have this JSON: { "id": "5", "id_cafe": "5", "id_estado": "1", "id_comuna": "5", "id_municipio": "5", "img": "images/cafe2.png" } In the first line, the id is "5", and id_cafe, id_estado, id_comuna, id_municipio are 1, 2, 3, 4 respectively. When I do: $.ajax({ type: "POST", url: "functions/buscar.php?id=5", data: "id=" + "5", dataType: "json", success: function(data){ console.log(data) }, error: function(){ alert("Error al subir el registro") } }); I need to get only the value of: "id_cafe": "5", "id_estado": "1", "id_comuna": "5", "id_municipio": "5", A: Use dot notation to access the properties of the variable. console.log(data.id); If the variable is a string then var id = data.id; console.log(id); EDIT var id = "5"; console.log(data.id); I have replaced the id="5" by var id = "5" You have to use the variable, and not the value of the id property. When the Dallas Cowboys finally put an end to the never-ending drama of quarterback Tony Romo's potential retirement, they'll face a major obstacle: signing three of their biggest free agents. The Cowboys entered the offseason
