About This Game

The Last Baron's stunt

A new round in the development of the Lunar Lander genre, a game moved from the machines of the 70s, but in a new wrapper, with new graphics, with different game physics modes, where you can choose between the complexity and comfort of gaming.

The Levels with a variety of tasks, including: time trial, rocket persecutions, trials in which you will need to show mastery of flying at maximum speeds, as well as research trials.

A Modern graphical shell that does not require high resources from a computer, offers modern 2D graphics.

Great music, written specifically to create an atmosphere of intense cartoon.

Fun game but if you're expecting something like HuniePop prepare to be disappointed.. This game is not working at all. I tried first to use an Xbox controller. It didn't work. Then I tried to use just the keyboard. Still doesn't work! Please, don't buy this game, they should fix it but it has been two years since the last update!. First impressions: Making your own starbase and ship right at the beginning was cool, it's a bit buggy but works pretty well. I launched into MP but wasn't sure what was going on. I can see lots of promise and will update this review the more I play. For free theres no reason not to check it out.

A short game where you need to think outside the box to progress. A puzzle that makes no real logical sense. It is up to you to calm the noise from within or enjoy this dreamscape in all its wonder.. This game sucked!! I am a huge fan of adventure time and was excited to play this game. The graphics are so BAD, even on the highest setting. There are a ton of glitches. Your shield doesn't protect you at all, and you are much slower than most monsters, meaning you die ALOT, even on the normal mode. The whole games story line isn't really explained well, which was disappointing seeing as it is based off of a TV show that typically has a hilarious one. The map is hard to read and also glitches often, telling you there are places to walk where there aren't any, so you can't rely on it at all. Each new map is an island, meaning you are surrounded by open ground all around you, and if you fall off, which the game will make you do if you even get CLOSE to the edge, you are sent back to the previous level. Then you have to walk you're extrodinarily slow character back to where you were. Combine that with many of the coins you need being close to the edge and you have an annoying headache. Lastly, the color was horrific. It gave me a headache to watch it within half an hour. I've honestly never been so dissappointed by a game I've purchased on Steam before. DO NOT BUY THIS GAME. IT IS A PATHETIC SCAR ON A WONDERFUL TV SHOW. Save your money, and your eyes, and move on to something better.

Needs to add support for smaller rooms... buuuuu its fun. I'll start with a warning: this game is difficult, and it starts difficult. You're going to die in the first few rooms several times. You'll feel weak, slow and underpowered. You'll get frustrated. But stick with the game, it's not long before it really starts to open up. Once you start getting those relics, you'll find the movements are fluid and incredibly fun. Enemies are difficult, and the AI is aggressive. You can't just stand still and smack them around while taking multiple shots. You gotta dodge attacks, backflip over them, slide under them, back dash to give yourself time to get that last hit in before you die. The content in this game seems huge. Tons of relics, weapons, and consumables. In addition to the sheer amount of content, there's progression everywhere. Potions get stronger the higher your stats are (they heal/give % values, so they scale with you). Your character levels up, and even your weapons level with use, increasing their damage and sometimes granting special abilities with those weapons. And like any good Metroidvania, there's plenty of breakable walls and secrets!

This game is a great addition to the Metroidvania genre, and an absolute steal for the price.. generic seems a good description.. It doesn't seem to be very intuitive or user friendly.

I see black bars where text presumably should be.

I can't find any video tutorials on Youtube or elsewhere.

It would be nice if I could use the app but I just can't figure it out to read the "black line" text.. best game under 6$. i love love love the game! it is one of the best vr games out there. there are bugs but 1 there not major 2 all games have bugs. this game is a 10/10 there are a few things that the developers need to add but otherwise the best vr game.

to developer: hi hopefully you are reading this i want to recemnd something [sorry for bad spelling] can you add there a unlimeted money and items mode/ you can buy everything for free so kinnda like a sandbox mode thank you for my attention and great game and goodbye. 10/10 would beat up furries again.
